Mexico City, August 2.—Early efforts to effect peace between the Mexican government and the Catholic church have failed it was reported today.

Although no official statement has been made it is reported that members of the diplomatic corps in Mexico City have made overtures, intimating to the Mexican government that they would be willing to use their good offices as intermediaries. Such overtures have brought no response from the government.

While there are many rumors that the church dignitaries are willing for mediation, it is said semi-officially that the government's attitude is that there is nothing to mediate, since it is merely enforcing laws which are upon the statute books and that the only way in

Lt.-Col. Meagher Ordered to Camp

New York, August 2.—Lieut. Col. Frank L. Meagher of N. 38 East St. James street, Kingston, N. Y., was named in War Department orders made public today with one other reserve officer called to active duty for a fifteen-day training period.

The order, signed by Major-General Charles P. Summerall, U. S. A., commander of the Second Corps Area, a military designation for New York, New Jersey and Delaware and issued from headquarters on Governors Island, directs that Lieut. Col. Meagher will report to the commanding officer at Fort Niagara, N. Y., for training.

The instruction of reserve officers is in line with the Government's policy for an adequate defense of the country. There are 85,000 of these officers on the War Department's rolls. During the summer, reserve officers who desire to take fifteen days' military training are ordered to active duty with the Regular Army and assigned to organizations where they will be instructed in the duties they would be required to perform during a national emergency.

Politics in America

Got Napoleon's "Goat"

Napoleon had an unusually deep interest in world politics, extending even to the internal politics of a remote section of the United States. It was revealed when Col. Duncan K. MacRae of North Carolina went to Paris as consul general more than a century ago. Napoleon was puzzled as to why the people in one part of a country embraced one party, while their neighbors held opposing views. In some manner he had learned that Edgecombe county, in North Carolina, was Democratic, while Pitt county embraced the Whig faith. Informed that Colonel MacRae was from that state, he said to his courtiers:

"Now, I will find out the riddle of North Carolina politics." So he gave Colonel MacRae an extraordinary welcome and said to him:

"I understand that the same river flows through the counties of Edgecombe and Pitt in North Carolina, that the people of both counties till the soil and own slaves. I am told that practically all the people in Edgecombe county belong to the Democratic party, while most of the people of Pitt are Whigs. Why is it?"

Any other person than Colonel MacRae would have been flabbergasted, remarks the Raleigh News and Observer, but not so the eloquent colonel, known as North Carolina's first orator. Nobody knows the answer he made, but he was quick to give a reason that satisfied the monarch.

Asbestos Long Known

but Little Employed

People of modern times are engaged in a ceaseless search for ways to improve living conditions. Safety, comfort and reduction of expense rank among the principal things to be considered. Asbestos, a material known for centuries but put to use only a comparatively short time ago, has done as much or more toward the realization of these three fundamentals than any other one thing in its class. Traces of its use have been found in ancient China, in Persia, by the early Greeks and Romans, and later, in about the sixteenth century, in the island of Guam, now a possession of the United States. The sudden emergence of asbestos, from the long period in which it was almost entirely the subject of myths and legends, or treated merely as a costly curio, into one of the world's most important minerals and industry's most important aids, is remarkable. Even electricity did not have quite so sudden a transformation.

The hall made a very cooling and inviting appearance with the profusion of wild flowers and green most artistically arranged by Harold V. Story. After the business session, R. Kiell, the master, introduced Deputy Weaver, who gave a short talk. The meeting was then turned over to M. Churchwell, the lecturer. C. C. Du-Mond sang, "In a Cottage Small" and "Dripping and Dreaming." There was a sketch and dance by Roger Keough, piano solo, "Old Black Joe," with variations and "In Italy," by Miss Montavani; sketch by Alfred Jones and Horton Pierson of Flatbush; solo, "Mighty Lak' a Rose," by Miss Gulick accompanied by Leslie Herring and Miss Herring on ukuleles. These young people were obliged to respond with an encore and Miss Gulick and Miss Herring sang, "Juanita." Ice cream and cake were served after which the guests left with many expressions of pleasure for the delightful evening spent. There will be no Grange meeting at Lake Katrine until August 16.

KINGSTON, N. Y., AUG. 2, 1926.

The secretary of the International Secret Service Association complains that when he sent a woman detective to catch a crook she not only caught him but married him. But no doubt she hopes to reform him.

Evidently "Me for Ma" is no longer an inspiring slogan in Texas, but after what has been reported to be a feeble, vacillating and emotional administration, with a directing hand behind the throne, Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson can not reasonably complain.

North Carolina is our chief cigarette producing State, and the amazing extent to which that industry has expanded since the World War is indicated by the report that from Winston-Salem alone two long freight trains go out every day in the year literally packed with cases of cigarettes.

BINDING POSTERITY.

The United States government has arranged, and presumably expects to collect $400,000,000 a year on the war debts throughout the next two generations, or, to be exact, until 1984. By that time most of the veterans of the war will have passed away, even their children will be elderly men and their grandchildren will be bearing middle life. But the grand-children as well as the children will be expected to go on paying four hundred million dollars a year. Yet even before one of the two generations has passed the war will be but a dim memory and its issues unappreciated if not unknown. Supposing the sons bend their backs to the burden, will the grandsons consent to do so? As to whether this huge sum will be yearly paid until 1984, the more than doubtful New York World says:

Does anybody really think he lives in a world where such things are possible? Let us not deceive ourselves. The Messrs. Coolidge, Mellon, Borah, Baldwin, Briand and the other gentlemen who have made these arrangements will not bind posterity nor mortgage the future in any such fashion as this. Already there is a generation out in the world which has almost no knowledge of the war. In a few years those of us who lived through it will seem like emaciated old bones to young people. Yet here we are deluding ourselves with the preposterous idea that from now until 1984 people and governments are going to carry out what to them will be perfectly meaningless settlements. The next generation certainly, our own if it is wise, will say in the face of the endless bother and animosity that these settlements entail: Let the past be the past, let the dead bury the dead, let us forget, let us forgive, let us have peace.

A PIONEER STATESWOMAN.

Attorney General Moody of Texas is quoted as saying that his victory over Governor Miriam A. Ferguson in the recent primary is "a serious setback to women holding office in this state." Probably it is. The burst child dreads the fire, or, as the Spanish proverb still more pointedly puts it, a scalded cat is afraid of cold water. By all accounts the real Governor during Mrs. Ferguson's incumbency was her husband, a discredited ex-Governor of the State. But while only a figurehead where all the important business of the administration was concerned, she did act on her own motion in the matter of pardons, doing so with such frequency, moved by unfeeling soft-heartedness, as to cause incalculable alarm. Judging from the reports, any convict who could get Mrs. Ferguson's ear could get a pardon.

Attorney General Moody bases his conclusion partly on the fact that few women voted for Mrs. Ferguson and that all their civic and political clubs supported either him or Davidson. This distrust of the capacity for statesmanship in their own sex has been observed among women voters in many parts of the country and it would probably be even more marked if a majority instead of a minority of women went to the polls. Those who hastily assumed that the great majority of women would vote, gladly voting for women, and that the womanhood of America would steadily march toward their goal of "the purification of politics"—these enthusiasts have had a rude awakening. The ladies know are that women divide on all questions just about as equally as men do. It is obviously unfair to judge women office holders in general by Mrs. Ferguson, yet it is likely that, temporarily at least, she has given woman statesmanship a "setback."

KEEPING THE LIVER WARM.

Physicians who make complete examinations of apparently healthy people often find a patient with low blood pressure, temperature below normal, and a history of a sluggish liver.

Dr. Crile, the famous surgeon, has been telling his brethren of the importance of the liver to the entire body.

He first pointed out that there are two organs without which the body cannot function, and neither of which can function in the absence of the other.

These are the brain and liver. The liver produces one third of the body heat, and about twenty-five percent of the blood is always in the liver.

Heat applied to the liver raises the temperature of the brain. A change of one degree in body temperature causes a change of ten percent in the workings of the tissues throughout the body. Now as the liver is one of the chief heat making organs, it is most important for the sake of the body, and for its own sake the liver be kept warm.

Therefore Dr. Crile suggests that during an operation of any kind, whether in abdomen or not, the temperature of the liver should be kept up. This is done by using electricity, with the plates on each side of the body, before and during the operation.

You can readily see that if the liver doesn't lose any heat, that the tissues throughout the body will not be suffering from "shock" or a lowered temperature, and will go steadily on with their work, enabling the patient to recover from the operation in much less time. He says that where this heat is given once or twice a day after the operation, the results are really surprising.

Now what about your liver? It goes on with its work in the same manner whether you think about it or not. It makes bile, stores away sugar for future needs, helps make the blood, removes poisons from the blood, helps control blood pressure, and perhaps does a few other jobs.

How can you keep it at its best? First, don't eat too much, especially of fats and starches.

Second, see that it gets squeezed a bit every day, by rocking exercises or fast walking which makes you breathe deeply and thus the floor of the chest squeezes it.

It is a wonderful organ. These two suggestions followed out will keep it in good shape for you.

Today's Story in New York History

By Frederic A. Godcharles.

(Copyright, 1926, by the Author)

Rev. Samuel Kirkland Began his Missionary Work Among Onondaga Indians August 2, 1766.

The most successful and most beloved missionary among the Six Nations was the Rev. Samuel Kirkland, whose mission was established among the Onondaga August 2, 1766.

Samuel Kirkland was born in Norwich, Connecticut, December 1, 1741. He came of good New England stock, one of his ancestors being the celebrated Miles Standish.

Samuel was the tenth in a family of twelve children. He entered Princeton College in 1762, where he determined to become a missionary among the Indians, and acquired some knowledge of the Iroquois language. Before his graduation he had visited among the Seneca, and in 1764 he spent some time with Sir William Johnson, at Johnson Hall.

On January 19, 1765, he set out on foot in company with two Seneca Indians for their country. On the fifth day they arrived at an Onondaga village, after resting, they proceeded to Onondaga, and on February 7 they reached Kanadasaga, the principal town of the Seneca. During his stay with the Seneca his life was often in peril. He remained with them until May, 1766.

On June 19, 1766, Mr. Kirkland was ordained at Lebanon, and on the same day received a commission as an Indian Missionary. He set out for his new Mission July 7, and commenced his labors among the Onondaga at Kaonwalohule. Here he continued, with but occasional interruptions, for more than forty years.

He made himself master of their language, became intimately familiar with all their fancies and customs, and greatly endeared himself to them by the kindness of his disposition, his devoted attention, and his amiable spirit.

By November he had succeeded in building a house, cutting and hewing the timber, and digging the cellar with his own hands.

He soon gained the unlimited confidence of a large majority of the tribe, and especially of two principal chiefs, Good Peter and Skenedoh. Among his first acts was an attempt to stop the tide of Intemperance, in which he was quite successful.

Toil and exposure having seriously affected his health, he took a short respite to regain it. He spent the summer of 1769 in Connecticut, and on September 15, married Jerusha Bingham, and soon afterward returned to his post accompanied by his wife. Mrs. Kirkland remained in the family of General Herkimer, on the Mohawk, until he enlarged his home.

On August 17, 1770, Mrs. Kirkland gave birth to twin sons, who were immediately adopted into the Onondaga tribe. One of the sons, John Thornton, became famous as president of Howard College.

By a vote of Continental Congress, July 18, 1775, the Rev. Mr. Kirkland was recommended to secure the friendship of the Six Nations and continue them as neutral in the Revolution. At first he was successful but the influence of Sir William Johnson was too strong with the confederated tribes, except the Onondaga, many of the warriors rendering important service to patriots.

The Rev. Mr. Kirkland was commissioned chaplain by the Continental Congress, and performed duty at Fort Schuyler, and in 1779 he was brigadier chaplain in General Sullivan's expedition against the Six Nations, and during the remainder of the war acted as chaplain at Fort Schuyler and at Onondaga Castle.

In recognition of his military services, he was given, in 1789, a liberal grant of land by the State of New York and the Onondaga Indians. The tract was two miles square, and its northern boundary is within the limits of the Hamilton College Campus. On a small clearing, Chaplain Kirkland built with his own hands the first specimen of clapboard architecture in that part of the state. The small house is still known as the "cradle of Hamilton College," and was the scene of many a gathering of his Indian friends and disciples.

In the winter of 1791 he conducted a delegation of forty Onondaga warriors to Congress in Philadelphia in order to consult as to the best method of introducing civilization among the tribes. He enlisted the interest of President Washington, Pickens, Hamilton and others.

Alexander Hamilton rendered him substantial assistance, and was one of the original trustees of the academy founded by the Rev. Mr. Kirkland, when it was chartered January 21, 1793. In his honor it was called Hamilton Onondaga Academy, and on July 1, 1793, the cornerstone of the first building was laid.

The Rev. Mr. Kirkland did not live to see the consummation of his labors, but his earnest efforts on behalf of the temporal and spiritual welfare of both whites and Indians has caused his name to be cherished among the heroes of the nation, and to him belongs the honor of founding Hamilton College, the charter for which was granted May 26, 1812.

The Reverend Samuel Kirkland died in Chateaufort, N. Y., February 28, 1807, and his grave is in the college cemetery.

Pennock Is Most Valuable Player

According to Paul C. Fitch, International News Service Special Correspondent—Miss Wren Swenson, Game and Loss 10.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 2.—Within the few weeks a committee of experts, representing each of the eight American League cities, will be casting about for some deserving ball player upon whom to bestow the honors as the most valuable man in the league.

When that time comes your correspondent has his candidate all picked out.

His name is Herbert Pennock, he is from Kennett Square, Pa., and is bound to be a true country gentleman, and pitcher baseball on his good left hand, aided and abetted by his better and more active brain.

And what we mean he pitches single individual on the team has proved his worth in a number of ways. He is a good weather and in heat and in cold, Mr. Pennock has been in there doing his stuff. Never complaining, never grumbling, never making just working hard and saying nothing.

At the time Herbie came to the White Sox in the spring of 1923 there was some grumbling among New York fans about the price tag on him. At the time it seemed that perhaps the White Sox was giving up a numerous and considerable quantity of his money and chattel in exchange for an older pitcher, and a left hander in the bargain. Today most of the fans have forgotten the price tag. But they haven't forgotten Pennock. Not by a damn bit.

When Herbie set the White Sox to work yesterday afternoon, winning in a game he could have won in 3 or 4 to 0 had he been so good as to have pitched the way of the year, as against six innings. And he rounded out his work by defeating every club in the American League.

And of course, while adding to his glory, Herbie likewise ran a line of Yankee victories to eleven and poured burning oil on the wounds of the Cleveland Indians who have striven so vainly to win the commanding lead which the Yankees have built up in their race for the pennant.

Pennock, as remarked before, has been one of the chief factors in

Tagging Major League Bases

The walloping Yankees won their eleventh straight, downing the White Sox again 5 to 4. Koenig and Sheely got four hits apiece.

After being blanked for eight innings, Cleveland moved out the Red Sox in the ninth, 2 to 1, on a single by Burns. Levens pitched for the winners and there were no flies on him at any time.

The Browns won for a change, 8 to 7, Washington being the victim. A single by Williams did the trick after pinch hitter Schang had tied the score with a homer.

Having acquired the habit of beating the Cardinals, the Giants trimmed them for the third time in succession, 7 to 3. Homers by Jackson and Kelly upset the veteran Alexander while McQuillan couldn't work up a respectable sweat.

The Dodgers gained clear title to fourth place as McWeeny bested Smith in a 2 to 1 duel. Butler's single drove in the winning tally.

Drop Athletics At St. Stephen's

Trustees Decide To Release Coach and Do Away With All Intercollegiate Competition—Said to Be Result of Student Strike.

Intercollegiate athletics have been discontinued and the Rev. Kenneth L. Bray, director of athletics, has been dropped from the faculty of St. Stephen's Episcopal College at Annandale-on-Hudson. Coach Bray confirmed the action after a fruitless conference with a committee of the college trustees in New York Saturday morning.

The discontinuance of intercollegiate athletic competition and the dropping of the coach are accepted at the college and by the students as induced by Coach Bray's sympathy and assistance to the student strikers last spring, when they forced concessions from the trustees which limited the disciplinary activities of Dr. Judds Bell, president of the college. News of the trustees' action, taken July 22, became known Saturday, and at once the leaders of the student body began circulating the students to ascertain their reaction.

Gasmen Win Industrial Cup

The Dodging Game From Athletics at Athletic Field Saturday Afternoon.

The Kingston Gas & Electric team won the cup in the Industrial Baseball League, taking the deciding game from the Athletics by forfeit, Saturday afternoon at the Athletic Field. The game went six innings when Manager Levy pulled his team off the field after disputing a decision at home plate.

This season's race was the closest the Industrial League ever had. Four teams were in the race until the end of the season. The Uni-Spike and U. & D. will most likely have to play off a tie for second place.

Miss Willis Very Impressive. New York, Aug. 2.—Fears that Miss Helen Willis would be physically unequal to a successful defense of her national tennis title this month were allayed today as a result of the young Californian's straight-set victory over Miss Mary Browne, one of the strongest of the contenders, yesterday at East Hampton. Miss Willis topped off the first tournament she has played since being laid low with an operation for appendicitis in Paris by beating Miss Browne, 6-3, 6-2, in a manner not a whit less impressive than would have been the case before the operation.

Tilden Unimpressive. New York, Aug. 2.—General acceptance of the suspicion that William T. Tilden, 2nd, is not the Tilden who beat off all comers for seven years followed today the third straight victory of Vincent Richards over the watering champion. Tilden was beaten in the final round of the Crescent A. C. Invitation event yesterday, 6-3, 6-4, 6-5 and 6-2, and never at any time showed the mastery of stroke and tactics that has made him supreme in the world of tennis since 1913.

Colonials Defeat Penn Red Caps

Although Outblitzed By The Porters Local Club Scored a 7-3 Win on Sunday at The Fair Grounds—Baker On The Mount.

A band of porters from the Pennsylvania Railroad who carry the title, the Penn Red Caps, outstripped the Philadelphia Sunday afternoon with their hitting tactics but failed to outclass the Colonials at running the bags, and as a result the locals gave this colored club a trimming by a 7 to 3 tally.

The tip gatherers exhibited class in handling the ball nor were they weak at clouting the horsehide but their two pitchers weakened at inopportune moments. Two pitchers were brought forth by the Red Caps and the pair gave but eight hits, three less than the Colonials were able to gather.

Eddie Baker was pitted against the railroaders and although he kept the porters away from the platter until the seventh frame he was hoisted out of trouble more than once by the stellar fielding of his mates.

Through the first six frames the Red Caps' side of the scoreboard was kept bare although the Kingstonians had more than one close shave. In the first frame two of the porters got aboard with but one down but were not allowed to get beyond third. The biggest scare came in the fourth. Singer started the frame with a huge three bagger. But the Colonial infield pulled more miraculous fielding at this stage and Singer died on third. After one out one of the Red Caps got on after being hit by a pitched ball. Then the locals made a speedy double play and ended the frame.

When it appeared that Baker was to have a shutout the Red Caps upset the dope and scored three runs. One of these came in the seventh and the other two in the ninth.

The Colonials scored in the first frame. Allen got aboard on a hit and was caught going to second as Kelly hit out. As McCue hit to third the sackman let the ball shoot past and Kelly scooted in with the first marker. Deegan clouted a big double in the second which crashed into a signboard in left field and O'Brien followed with a single. Johnnie Peters drove another single through short which scored both Deegan and Vincent. Two boots, two hits and Kelly, getting hit by a pitched ball gave the Colonials three more in the fifth as Johnson was driven from the mound. In the sixth O'Brien walked and Robins hit. Baker sacrificed and O'Brien came across with the final run.

Carl Ruge of Rhinecliff and Frank Gorsky of the D. and H. Generals, new pitchers were on the bench Sunday. An Art Smith was away on a business trip this pair were to be used in case of emergency.

But as the Colonials do not expect to play any more than two or three games a week Ruge or Gorsky will probably not receive a tryout before Labor Day.

Manager Phelps may take them along on the upstate trip after the Pittsburgh match when the Colonials play in Massachusetts for a week. A few extra pitchers will be needed as the locals play in Westfield on August 10, Shelburne Falls on August 11, Florence on August 12, Pittsfield on August 12 and North Adams on August 14.

It threatened to rain during the entire game but not a drop was the ball game endangered. The crowd was a little larger than the usual Sunday afternoon audience.

All-Stars Defeat Saugerties, 2-1

Stout's Home Run, Jack Cragan's Twirling Hops Local Club Defeat Up-State Club in Close Contest.

At the Saugerties-Fair Grounds Sunday, the Kingston All-Stars came through with a win over the Up-state club. It was the second time this season that the locals triumphed the Saugerties club.

It was a pitchers' battle between Cragan and Fraleigh, the Saugerties twirler holding the All-Stars to four hits and sending nine back with strikeouts. Cragan gave one more hit than his opponent, but struck out thirteen of the opposing batters. In the sixth inning he retired the side in order with strikeouts.

The Saugerties pitcher was given good support by his teammates, twice Kid Moore was robbed of base hits, once by Robinson, the center fielder, and again by Baker, who made a remarkable stop.

Fred Stout put the finishing touches to the game when he hit a home run in the fourth frame. Fred played first in place of Vogt who will be lost to the club for several weeks.

The All-Star club seemed to work better the last two games than they have at any time this season. Snides singled in the second, the next two men made out and Black sent Cragan across the rubber when he singled to center field.

In their half of the second frame Saugerties got their only tally when Baker cracked out a base hit with T. Fraleigh aboard the sacks. It looked bad for the locals in the seventh when Baker, first man up, got a two bagger. However, a fast double play cleared the bags and made it safe for the locals.

Friday afternoon about thirty members of the Junior Luther League of Trinity Lutheran Church left the church corner in a Saenger-Kingston bus for the Golden Rule Inn for an outing. At the grove the young people had a glorious time, especially rowing and bathing in Mirror Lake. It was too soon for them when the bus called at 8:30 in the evening to take them home again. Everyone will long remember the good time spent at the park through the kindness of the owner, Mr. Kunz. Mrs. Pretzsch and Mrs. Ellsworth who always act in the capacity of the Juniors' big sisters, against most efficiently fulfilled their duties at this most successful and happy outing.

TRUSTEE: KINGSTON TRUST COMPANY.

The Proceeds from the sale of these Bonds will be deposited with the Trustee and paid out by them as the building is completed.

The following is summarized from the letter of the President of the Company to Berry & Company, Inc.:

THE KINGSTON THEATRE CORPORATION has been organized for the purpose of conducting a high-class Theatre in the City of Kingston, N. Y. It will erect, on land owned by it, a modern theatre building. In addition to the theatre itself, this building will contain a considerable amount of very desirable office space for renting as well as four valuable stores on the ground floor.

THE THEATRE: The Kingston Theatre will conform in quality, construction and design to that high standard already established by the builders of the newer theatres in New York City. The building will be of fire-proof construction throughout. In design and decoration, the Theatre will be finished in the best possible manner, employing the most tasteful decorations and best quality draperies only, and when finished will be the last word in Theatre construction. The architecture and color scheme will be a unique combination of richness and refinement. This theatre will have a seating capacity of seventeen hundred, and so carefully has the seating been planned by the architects that every seat in the orchestra and balcony will have a direct unobstructed view of the stage. The stage will be large enough to accommodate the most elaborate type of productions, thereby meeting a demand that has long been wanting in the City of Kingston. Every conceivable mechanism for finished production in lighting and general stage effects will be installed. An exceptional number of well-situated fire exits have been planned that will permit a complete emptying of the theatre in case of an emergency, in a few minutes' time. It is the intention of the management to maintain a high standard of service and as a part of this, a staff of well-trained ushers will be in attendance. The Kingston Theatre Corporation will feature first-class vaudeville, as well as moving pictures of the better kind. It will also book the road productions of the leading producers, such as Schubert, Belasco, etc. An especially fine ventilating and air-cooling system will be installed that will make possible an agreeable temperature both summer and winter. On the ground floor, on the Broadway side of the building, there will be located four (4) stores. The second floor will contain fourteen (14) offices and stores with full display windows.

DEMAND FOR HIGH-CLASS THEATRE: Little need be said about the demand for a high-class theatre in the City of Kingston. The people of Kingston and surrounding territory have felt the want of a theatre of this kind for a long time. One only needs to visit the City of Poughkeepsie where six (6) theatres are operating—two of which are producing vaudeville and moving pictures—and the balance straight moving pictures—to realize that the public appreciated the opportunity to witness first-class shows under the proper environment. Although, at the present time Poughkeepsie enjoys the possession of the best theatre in the Hudson Valley, the new Kingston Theatre when complete will surpass in every respect any theatre in the Hudson Valley.

LOCATION: The theatre will be located on Broadway at the corner of Cedar street, running through to Cedar street. 217 feet frontage on two thoroughfares. The main entrance will be on Broadway, and access to the stage at the rear of the building will be on Cedar street. It will be located on the only street car line in the city, and the bus line that is operating from every part of the county to the city must pass by this location. Broadway is the main thoroughfare of the City of Kingston. The location of the new theatre is equally convenient to the people of both Rondout and Kingston, and certainly offers ample and adequate parking space for automobiles.

SECURITY: These bonds will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a first and closed mortgage on the land, together with the building to be erected thereon, extending about 102 feet on Broadway and running through to Cedar street, with a frontage of about 115 feet on Cedar street, comprising about 23,199 sq. ft.

THIS LAND AND THE BUILDING TO BE ERECTED THEREON, HAS BEEN INDEPENDENTLY APPRAISED BY COMPETENT AND CONSERVATIVE AUTHORITIES AT NOT LESS THAN $500,000 ON COMPLETION, MAKING THIS ISSUE ONLY SLIGHTLY MORE THAN A 50 PER CENT LOAN.

The Kingston Theatre Corporation will unconditionally guarantee completion of the building. The contractor will also be required to furnish a Surety Company Bond, guaranteeing the completion of the building. Title insurance for the full amount of the bonds of this issue and adequate fire and liability insurance will also be carried payable to the trustee.

EARNINGS. Stores and Offices: The estimated revenue from the four stores, figured conservatively, is $5,500 per annum. The revenue from fourteen offices at $300 per annum is $4,200.

Estimated revenue is as follows:
4 Stores, per annum$3,500.00
14 Offices, per annum 4,200.00
$7,700.00

EARNINGS. Theatre: Price of seats will be 35c, 50c, and 75c except for special shows, when prices will range from $1.00 to $2.50 per seat, of which the theatre corporation receives 40 per cent, making an average return of 40c per seat.

Estimating that the average attendance will be 55 per cent of the daily capacity, on a basis of three performances a day, daily receipts will amount to $859.68. Or, to figure more conservatively, at $800 per day, which is at the rate of $4,800 a week for six days in each week or $249,600 per year, making a total gross revenue of $257,300 a year. Estimated over-head for the operation of the theatre is put at $165,370 per annum before interest and sinking fund requirements on the first and second mortgage bonds, leaving a net return of $91,930 per annum, applicable to the interest and sinking fund requirement of the first mortgage bonds after the City, State and Federal Taxes.

Theatre, per annum	$249,600.00
Stores and Offices	7,700.00
Estimated Gross Income	$257,300.00
Estimated Overhead	165,370.00
Net Income before Interest and Sinking Fund	$91,930.00
Interest on First Mortgage	18,200.00
Estimated Average Net Income	$73,730.00
Average Annual Sinking Fund	11,550.00
Net Income	$62,180.00

The interest requirements on the first mortgage bonds are $18,200 per annum and the average sinking fund requirements, $11,550 per annum. The conservatively estimated net earnings therefore will amount to more than 5 times the interest requirements on the entire issue of these bonds and more than 3 times the combined interest and sinking fund requirements on this issue. It is also interesting to note that if the management wish to do so, the theatre alone could be rented to one of the large theatrical circuits operating theatres all over the country, for more than double the interest and sinking fund requirements under a long term lease. It is therefore our opinion, that the first mortgage bonds, are an investment of exceptional character.
